

The Galveston Ready-Mix Plant is dedicated to being a good neighbor, and it shows: the plant has been awarded two industry honors this year for its efforts in public appearance and environmental excellence. First, the Texas Aggregate & Concrete Association (TACA) named the facility "Best Plant" in its category for the 2016 TACA Public Appearance Awards. Following that, the plant was recognized by the National Ready Mixed Concrete Association (NRMCA) with 2nd-place honors in the Central Region for the 2016 NRMCA Environmental Excellence Awards. Way to represent CEMEX USA and our awesome Texas-New Mexico Region!

Through a focus on environmental education, the Victorville Cement Plant has become the 15th CEMEX USA site to earn Conservation Certification from the Wildlife Habitat Council. In partnership with local schools and the Women in Mining organization, the Victorville team provides hands-on learning experiences for teachers and students in the classroom and at the plant. Additionally, the plant has created and maintains an "Oasis in the Desert" habitat near the entrance of the quarry designed for wildlife to thrive and employees to enjoy.

The CEMEX Cement Operations Global Network, led by CEMEX Europe President Jaime Elizondo, held its annual conference in Miami this month to network, discuss best practices and make plans for the future of our cement operations division. It was an excellent learning experience for all, and a huge success. Thanks to all who attended—this was a big step towards the network's goal of building the best cement operations in the world!

Are good driving skills hereditary? It sure seems so in the case of Tommy and John Comeau, two of our CEMEX drivers from Arizona. Tommy, who's been driving for CEMEX for only two years, recently won the Arizona Safety Rodeo and went on to compete at the national championships in Nashville. His father, John, represented CEMEX in 2015 at the national championships, although it took him a little longer to get there—he's been driving since 1982. Kudos to this outstanding father-son driving duo. You make CEMEX proud!!!

The Lyons Cement Plant has been recognized with a 2016 Energy and Environment Award for Land Stewardship from the PCA. The Lyons plant's land-stewardship program includes limiting invasive plants and weeds and cultivating native plants to attract local wildlife and migrating birds. The plant also optimized its quarry roads to limit fugitive dust emissions and improve energy efficiency and employee productivity. The PCA Energy and Environment Awards are given annually to recognize outstanding environmental and community relations efforts by cement plants throughout North America.

Operational Excellence in action: Doug Augeri, VP/GM of the Palm Beach/Treasure Coast Ready-Mix team, has instilled Leader Standard Work throughout the entire division. "LSW has helped me accomplish the things that are most important to me and CEMEX. My success rate for completing VFLs and visiting our customers improved dramatically once I introduced LSW into my life. Once I saw the benefits, I made it a requirement for my division to use LSW as well. Leader Standard Work really works!" Augeri said.

We're providing about 75,000 cubic yards of concrete to build three underground stations, the track and systems. This new, 1.7-mile extension of subway will vastly improve transportation for tourists and residents alike. For the fifth-consecutive year, our Florida Region is partnering with South Sumter High School's AP Environmental Class on a year-long, mine-permitting project. For the entire 2016-17 school year, the students will work with our team members to learn all about what it takes to permit a mine. They started the project with a tour of the Center Hill Mine, where they viewed aerial photos of the property, toured the active mining areas and visited the mine's 9-acre wetland mitigation site. An outstanding educational experience for all!
